MEXICO TO OUST BRITAIN'S ENVOY

ENGLISHMAN IS LOCKED IN HIS OWN LEGATION

BRITISH DIPLOMAT IS
PERSONA NON GRATA

Crisis Looms as Obregon Government Threatens Expulsion By Force of Undesirable Representative.—Situation Held Grave.

Mexico City.—Locked in the British legation with the water supply and telephone cut off, H. A. C. Cummins, representative of the British government here, resisted efforts of the Mexican government to expel him from the country.

June 10 Cummins was locked in the legation, but it was not until five days later that the secret police began their preparations to arrest him, as the expulsion order only then took effect.

The order to expel Cummins was given by President Obregon after repeated efforts had been made by Mexico to persuade Britain to withdraw him as "persona non grata."

If force is used in expelling him, Mexico will violate the extraterritorial rights of the British legation, but it is understood that the Obregon government intends to take the step if Cummins does not leave. The Chilean minister is holding conferences with other members of the diplomatic corps here in an effort to find a way out of the situation.

The foreign office stated that Cummins, who was in charge of the archives at the legation, had no diplomatic position, but was responsible for Britain's failure to recognize Mexico, due to the fact that he made "false and vilifying" statements to the British government regarding conditions there.

He also sent notes to the Mexican government, the statement says, which were invariably discourteous and couched in violent terms. Two years ago, in view of these facts, Mexico advised Britain that he was "persona non grata" and suggested that he be withdrawn.

RAILROAD COMMISSION ACTS ON POWER SUPERVISION FOR SOUTH

Sacramento.—A "power supervisor" for southern California hydro-electric plants and distribution systems was decided upon by the state railroad commission, following a hearing in Los Angeles before Commissioner Irving Martin. The conference brought out that a reduction of about 25 per cent should be made to consumers supplied by the Southern California Edison company in order not to exhaust before the end of the summer season the stored water supplies now being drawn on to supplement stream flow at the hydro-electric generating plants.

It was announced that the supervision, to be in effect within a short time, "will have as its object the distribution of the shortage so as to result in the least possible detriment to the community."

SAILORS AND CIVILIANS TAR AND FEATHER SNEERING REDS

San Pedro.—Seven alleged members of the I. W. W. were taken from a meeting of that organization and tared and feathered by sailors and civilians who charged them with making sneering remarks about the forty eight victims of the explosion aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi. The meeting hall was wrecked. Rumors were current here that I. W. W. have threatened to dynamite the morgue where the bodies of the victims are resting, in retaliation for the raid.

Heavy police guards were placed on duty here to prevent outbreaks of violence which seemed imminent following the threat.

Rum Gang Slays Pugilist

New York.—Bill Brennan, the heavyweight prize fighter, was shot and killed in a cabaret here by men police believe to be liquor gangsters.
Brennan was at a cabaret when five men entered the room and called him outside and shot him down. Two men who gave their names as James Hughes and Frank Rassi were captured by police. Hughes was identified by Shirley Sherman, Brennan's sister, as one of her brother's assailants.

Special Services for Sailors

Los Angeles.—Churches of Los Angeles held special services Sunday for the forty-eight officers and men who were killed by the turret explosion aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi.
Flare throughout the city were at half staff and the citizenry backed the spirit of Acting Mayor Workman's proclamation requesting a day of mourning for the navy's dead.

Cleveland.—It looks like a "back porch" campaign, insofar as the president's personal activities, other than keeping a hand on the helm is concerned, judging from an announcement of the Coolidge managers, made immediately after the reorganization of the Republican national committee.

In the event that no summer "white house" is established, the high, rear veranda of the executive mansion at Washington will be the scene of the infrequent campaign utterances of the president.

Taken all in all, it seems safe to say that when the final draft of the committee's plans is made, it will be devoid of provisions for the usual pyrotechny and will furnish an example in political conservatism.

Cleveland.—Coolidge and Dawes head the Republican ticket for president and vice-president respectively.

In all the annals of the history of political campaigns, never were two personalities of such widely contrasting characteristics named as running mates by a major party—the silent president, Coolidge, and Dawes, the man who sprang into prominence through his quick and decisive actions and words.

Coolidge was nominated by the large-est majority ever given in a Republican national convention, which later voted to make the nomination unanimous.

Dawes received the vice-presidential nomination on the third ballot, after the convention had placed in nomination Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, on the second ballot, who reiterated his previous declination to serve.

The nomination of Coolidge came when Chairman Mondell announced that "On behalf of Massachusetts, Dr.
Burton has placed in nomination Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts," and asked, "Are there any more nominations?"

Cries of "No, no, no," came from every part of the vast hall.

"In the absence of any other nomination, the chairman will recognize Mrs. Florence Porter of California to second the nomination."

Mrs. Porter received a great hand.
"It's my great honor in behalf of the Republicans of California to second the nomination of Calvin Coolidge, California stands loyal to the Coolidge ticket. I also second the nomination in the name of that new citizenship, the Republican womanhood."

Dawes' Colorful Career

General Charles G. Dawes, the convention's choice for vice-president, has accomplished big things in varied fields of big affairs, and wherever Dawes has managed events he has introduced energy and efficiency, as well as some famous cuss word.

Dawes was born in Marietta, Ohio, in 1865, the son of Gen. Rufus G.
Dawes. At the age of 19 he received an A. B. degree from Marietta college and two years later received a LL.B. at the Cincinnati law school. He then returned to Marietta for a year and received his master's degree there.

The supreme court affirmed a verdict of $2,500 damages against Gertrude Steele in favor of Pauline Hall, motion picture actress, in Los Angeles. The verdict was based on William D. Byrne, 34, who was married to Estella Smith, 23, died suddenly the following day in San Francisco. His brother, Father John Byrne, Sonoma priest, who celebrated the nuptial mass, presided at the funeral ceremony.

Intent on proving that the Sacramento river is navigable from source mento in a light skiff.

GRADUATION OF 1924 CLASS IS HISTORY

The last of the school activities by which the senior class of the high school became alumni of that institution, were the graduation exercises held Friday evening at the grammar school auditorium.

The program as appeared last week was carried out except that Rev. P. T. Lynn, of Willow Glen church, San Jose, father of Miriam Lynn, one of the graduates, gave the invocation and benediction.

In announcing the two song number, Mr. Cramer spoke briefly on the musical department of the school and that the six girls who appeared were all seniors and in the boys' quartet, three were graduates. These numbers,
"Happy Days" and "The Gypsy Trail" were both well received, as were the two orchestra selections.

The choice of James C. De Voss, of the State Teachers' College of San Jose, as speaker provided a very happy one. Mr. De Voss has an appealing personality and his address was full of good thought and advice, well seasoned with an essential bit of humor.
His talk was based upon a statement of H. G. Wells—"History is a race between education and disaster."

He congratulated the class on its courage as evidenced by the total disregard of all superstition attached to "Friday the thirteenth." He enumerated the several holidays as rallying times for various purposes—of patriotism, reverence, love of childhood, and so on—and stated that graduation time was the rallying time of education, when we should take stock of our forces.

This is the time when young people ask, "What shall I do with the next 15 or 20 years. Everyone has a potentiality and more and more information is available in all lines to aid in the choice of a vocation according to one's special fitness.

Reviewing history he had found the primal factors in the downfall of all previous civilizations, or as Wells put it, disaster were war, poverty, disease, crime and ignorance. He then went on to show how education if properly conducted, will overcome each of these causes of disaster.

In closing he offered his services in any way to assist the young people in their choice of a vocation.

Before presenting the diplomas to the class, Dr. A. B. Townsend, president of the board of trustees told of the recent visit of the Berkeley inspector to the school and his commendatory remarks of the scholarship of graduates from this school attending U. C. and of the present status of the school. He also spoke of the need of more modern and enlarged facilities in the very near future.
The presentation of the diplomas was then made and the graduates rather reluctantly separated, laden with beautiful bouquets and baskets of flowers.

The footlights had been prettily decorated with a bank of Dorothy Perkins roses with the figures '24 in the center, but it was all practically hidden in the glowing array of gift bouquets.

Quite a number of the class are planning to attend some higher institution next year.
The senior class presented Miss Claribel Boesch, their class advisor, with a very pretty brooch and a book in appreciation of the time and energy she has so freely given them during both their junior and senior years.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL GRADUATION EXERCISES ATTENDED BY THROG OF FRIENDS

Prin. Cuthbertson Gives Class Diplomas

Campbell Union Grammar school graduated a large class last week with very fitting exercises.
The class gift presented by Elsie Swanson, representing the February class and Emmi Berry for the June class, was a beautiful United States flag mounted on a stand.

The address of the evening was given by Chas. R. Crooke, principal of the Willow Glen school and elicited much favorable comment. His main point was the building of character by all students, not only for a more profitable life but also for a better one. The class motto "Onward and upward" is a very appropriate one.

The several numbers given by the boys' band and class members were most enthusiastically received. The following program was rendered:

Overture	Boys' Band
Invocation	Rev. F. C. Farr

DELIGHTFUL PARTY AT B. O. CURRY HOME

A more charming location for a garden party could not be found locally than the beautiful grounds and home of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Curry, where the southwest section of the Congregational Guild entertained Friday evening.

Canvass screen aided the beautiful orange and shade trees in forming a barrier against the evening breezes, and quantities of beautiful Chinese lanterns and electric lamps lighted the grounds and porches.

At prettily decorated tables, candy, punch, ice cream, cake and coffee were sold, whose proceeds swelled the admission fund.

An interesting entertainment had been arranged, altho some numbers had to be omitted on account of illness.

The program as given was:

Piano Solo	Miss Patrice Smith
Song	Helen Raymond
Playlet—"Ruth's Suspicion" Six Girls of Mt. Pleasant Bluebird Club
Reading	Miss Barbara Dow
Vocal Solo	L. J. Carboni
Mrs. Carboni accompanist
Reading	Mrs. Harry Smith
Whistling Solo	Mr. Stonier
Piano, Miss Stonier
Skit—"Cabbage vs. Vamps" Miss De Mayo
Mrs. Harry Watrous
Solo	Mr. Carboni

The songs by baby Helen Raymond were highly enjoyed, and the numbers furnished by Miss Smith and Mr. Carboni were of the delightful style with which they always entertain.

Miss Dow is always a popular number on a program and she will be missed hereafter as she leaves Campbell soon.

The girls little playlet was very well executed, showing the effective drilling of their leader, Mrs. Watrous. The skit which she and Miss De Mayo, of San

ANNUAL PAGEANT AT LOS GATOS

On the evening of Friday and Saturday, June 20th and 21st, Los Gatos will present its Sixth Annual Pageant, "El Gato de Los Gatos," written by Wilbur Hall.

The author states that this pageant-play is an attempt to recreate the secular life of California "before the Gringo came" as John Steven McGrorty has given us the history of the church and its achievements in his famous Mission Play at San Gabriel.

He has laid his scene in this very locality, approximately a hundred years ago, and the pivotal figure "The Wild Cat of the Wild Cats," is a villain of deepest dye, but so dashing and picturesque a person that he captures, temporarily, the proud fancy of Mercedes, daughter of Don Casper de Bandini, head of a great family and owner of wide lands and countless herds, and almost carries her off beneath the noses of her other suitors. Notable among these are Ernesto, the lame troubador, poet at the courts of Mexico and Spain, who worships her humbly, Hernando de Hernando, a fat young neighbor whom her father wishes her to espouse, but whose suit provokes her cruel scorn, and Senor Don Juan Ramon, a Marques, travelling incognito, a forward-looking modern who symbolizes the future as Ernesto does the lovely, langorous past, and who finally wins the capricious beauty, the toast of Alta California.

Jose, put on was very good—the colored washwoman being well portrayed by Mrs. Watrous.

A unique feature was the fine whistling done by Mr. John M.

two very pleasing numbers. He was accompanied by Miss Ston-

He was told that the charges were $5 a day for rooms on the first floor, $4 for rooms on the second, $3 on the third and $2 on the top floor. EVER THINK OF THIS

We have been "chuck full" of the idea of trade at home and the development of home business and home industry. But underlying all is a fundamental principle that every citizen who wants to be loyal to the home town should apply. It is the destroying of the false psychological conception that goods purchased out of town are better and cheaper than those bought at home. This theory has been exploded time after time, and the reason this theory has been exploded is because it has proven that it is merely a state of mind and that it cannot be borne out by facts. As to the first proposition, namely, that it is purely psychological, we have but to remember the old fable about the pasture on the other side of the fence always looking just a little bit greener. We are always of the notion that the fish bite better ten miles up the river rather than those down by the old mill-dam close to town. How many times have we wished we were just on the other bank and could cast our line under that old dead tree that sticks out over the water. Now all this is "bunk." It is purely a human notion, and will not stand the acid test of fact.

This is the age of advertising; and advertising is being applied not only to individual business, but to cities and towns. If our town is to keep pace with modern progress, it is up to everyone of us to let the world know what it can produce and what it has to sell. One way to do this is to keep the heels of progress moving by buying at home. It can be done!

LOS GATOS PAGEANT

Plot and counter plot move swiftly and stirringly; comedy, romance, pathos, tragedy, tread on each others heels; haughty dons, stately senoras, coquetish señoritas, grave padres, gallant caballeros, vacqueros, Indians, peons, a veritable kaleidoscope of brilliant color will delight the eye; the throf of soft guitars, the sonorous organ music from the church, the mellow pealing of the bell, the harmony of voices will enchant the ear.

John D. Blaine, M. D.

YOU will soon be deep in the work of putting up fruit for home uses next winter. For all problems of canning and preserving equipment John D. Blaine is the doctor. Come to "Blaine's" with all such troubles.

For instance, there's the question of jars. Remember the old "Lightning" jars with the glass tops? Some of them are in use yet, after 25 or 30 years—with the original tops. Let's figure. In a quarter of a century a metal-capped dozen of jars would use up about $5 worth of new covers. So the glass-top jar, in the long run, is incomparably cheaper.

As for convenience—well, the glass-top jar is in a class alone. One motion of a wire clamp and the top is off or on. No sprained wrist.

In sanitation, glass tops beat metal tops immeasurably. There's no argument needed here.

Acme Glass-Top Jars have all the virtues of the old "Lightning" jars plus modern improvements. Standard size mouth, taking any make of rubber. Square shape for more convenient handling. Only $1 for the pints and $1.25 for the quarts, rubbers included.

Blaine's is the place, too, for caps and rubbers for all makes of jars. Some questions here also. Long experience gives us quite a store of information in this field. We are at your service.

THE WISE MAN OF NINEVAH

Sannacherib, king of Assyria, becomes suspicious of his old and long trusted counselor. The villainous Nadan fosters this suspicion in the hope of being elevated to the old man's place of trust and honor. Abusmak, the chief captain, falls in love with the king's beautiful daughter, and the plot grows thicker. The king's dancing girl, through her love for the villain, is also drawn into the net. Can Seraba, the wife of the wise man of Ninevah, save his head?

If you wish to know the solution of this riddle, don't forget the play to be given by the Congregational Players in July. Incidentally, the stage manager has received a shipment of thirty yards of canvass from Oakland this week to be used in connection with the scenery. Begin to save your money, for this is to be a real event.

Fortunately there was no wind, as the cottages are so closely situated it would have been very difficult to have prevented a general conflagration. This announcement and my

THE AUTO

By Walter F. Lewis.

This is the day of the Auto, Sometimes styled the "Devil Bus"
But no matter what you call em, They can raise an awful fuss.
They skim around the corners, Go like Jehu on the pike; They're the Juggernauts that get you, Call 'em what you like.

They go skimming through the valleys,
And racing o'er the hills,
They will hit you in the midriff, With a dozen kind of thrills, Now the man who uses pedals,
Has no right upon the earth,
For when the driver honks his horn,
His heart is filled with mirth,
To see you jump in wild alarm, Just fills his heart with glee,
But there's no smile upon your face,
That anyone can see.

A Little Critical

The Matinee Fan—Ah, don't you

The Matinee Pet—Cawn't say that I do, dear lady. It is too dim for a flood light and too diffuse for a spot.

No Time for Kissing

Their boat was drifting idly, the sun shone brightly, and the sea was serene; while she was sitting snugly Then he proposed.

From the opposite end of the craft she gazed at him calmly. Then she said:

"As a matter of common sense, realizing that we are in this boat, on water more than fifty feet deep, and if you were to act as you should act if I accepted you we would be capsized, I will decline your proposal at the mo-can to the shore and ask me again."

ZEROLENE helps win the PACKARD CONTEST

In 1922 the City Motor Trucking Company of Portland, Oregon, won the Packard's low upkeep contest in the State of Oregon with its 4-ton Packard No. 180-590. During the period of this contest Zerolene oil was used exclusively, and the Company writes us as follows:

"In consequence of our success in this contest, and because of our uniform satisfaction with the use of Zerolene in all other equipment, we naturally consider Zerolene as an absolutely dependable and correct lubricant. We most cheerfully recommend it to any and all truck operators to receive real efficiency in lubricating oils."

It is records like these that month after month and year after year are cutting the ground from under the superstition that there is something mysteriously "better" about eastern oils, just because they cost more.

Zerolene sales have increased seven-fold in seven years. The more experienced the motorist, the more likely he is to discover that the Zerolene-lubricated car delivers better gasoline mileage, accumulates less carbon, costs less for upkeep, and has a longer working life.

Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene —a better oil—even if it does cost less.
